

THE AUSTRALIAN motel owners Journal

2019 media kit

The Australian Motel Owners' Journal has now established itself as an important contributor to the hospitality industry, with positive feedback coming from all sections of the market.

The 2019 issue is due for release in November this year, and will be distributed free to motels, guesthouses and B&B's throughout Australia.

Australian Motel Owners' Journal is introduced by the Federal Department of Tourism, whom will continue to provide editorial for the magazine, highlighting the government's acknowledgement of the importance of tourism to the Australian economy.

Australian tourism continues to grow at an impressive rate, generating an increased turnover for those able to provide quality service to cater for the needs of this expanding industry. As with their 5 star cousins, our smaller 2 and 3 star motels need to keep abreast of the ever-changing needs of their customers, keeping up to date with the latest trends.

The Australian Motel Owners' Journal is a high-quality A4 colour publication, published in a hardcopy and complimented by an online digital format, distributed to in excess of 7500 readers. This years issue will also be supported and distributed electronically by the AAoA (Accommodation Association of Australia) to all of their members. Designed to help educate and inform its readers, featuring topics such as housekeeping, building maintenance, ground maintenance, swimming pool maintenance and front of house etc. These articles and papers are written by experts in their fields and are totally generic.

The information in this publication will raise the skill and knowledge level of the motel owners in Australia and help establish new standards in the industry.

I recommend you reserve space now to promote your products and services to the people you need to reach.
